A novel human body exergy consumption formula to determine indoor thermal conditions for optimal human performance in office buildings

Research output: Research - peer-review › Journal article – Annual report year: 2013