An assessment of cumulative external doses from Chernobyl fallout for a forested area in Russia using the optically stimulated luminescence from quartz inclusions in bricks

Research output: Research - peer-review › Journal article – Annual report year: 2008