Development of an IoT early-warning temperature home-monitoring system for diabetic foot ulcer-or Charcot-feet patients

In severe cases, diabetic patients can develop ulcers at the feet and lower leg regions. This, together with a condition called Charcot-foot, can lead to severe wounds, numbness and eventually amputation. There are ways to treat the condition, but the key element is early-warning and early treatment.