Empirical study of ill-supported activities in variation risk identification and assessment in early stage product development - DTU Orbit (22/12/2018)

Empirical study of ill-supported activities in variation risk identification and assessment in early stage product development

Research output: Research - peer-review » Article in proceedings – Annual report year: 2017