Gram-negative bacteria account for main differences between faecal microbiota from patients with ulcerative colitis and healthy controls.