Highly localized H₂O librational motion as a far-infrared spectroscopic probe for microsolvation of organic molecules - DTU Orbit (18/01/2019)

Highly localized H₂O librational motion as a far-infrared spectroscopic probe for microsolvation of organic molecules

Research output: Research - peer-review › Journal article – Annual report year: 2019