In a recent study, Christiansen AS, Johnsen R, Norby P, Jensen SH, Frandsen C, Mørup S et al. investigated the high voltage performance of Li3Fe2(PO4)3 cathodes for lithium ion batteries. The research, published in Electrochemical Society Meeting Abstracts (Online) in 2013, highlights the potential of this material for improving battery efficiency.