Models for the discrete berth allocation problem: A computational comparison