Optimistic and pessimistic self-assessment of own diets is associated with age, self-rated health and weight status in Danish adults.