Sustainable Urban Drainage Systems - DTU Orbit (24/12/2018)

Sustainable Urban Drainage Systems: Using rainwater as a resource to create resilient and liveable cities

The white paper presents the various possibilities of using rainwater as a resource as opposed to considering it as something that simply needs to be hidden in sewers. The aim of using rainwater as a resource is partly to reduce the risk of flooding by optimising the rainwater management and partly to contribute to creating more green and liveable cities.

General information
State: Published
Number of pages: 27
Publication date: 2015

Publication information
Publisher: State of Green
Original language: English
Electronic versions:
SUDS_White_paper.pdf
URLs:
Source: PublicationPreSubmission
Source-ID: 118682594
Research output: Commissioned - peer-review » Report – Annual report year: 2015