The influence of demagnetizing effects on the performance of active magnetic regenerators