Towards characterizing and reducing artifacts caused by varying projection truncation.