An integrated ecosystem approach for assessing the potential role of cultivated bivalve shells as part of the carbon trading system

Research output: Contribution to journal › Journal article – Annual report year: 2015 › Research › peer-review