Changes in intermittent aeration regimes are effective tools to manage bio-granule size and microbial communities in partial nitritation-anammox SBRs - DTU Orbit (02/11/2019)

Blum, J-M & Smets, BF 2017, Changes in intermittent aeration regimes are effective tools to manage bio-granule size and microbial communities in partial nitritation-anammox SBRs. in L Flindt Jørgensen, T Mosolff Larsen & BK Jensen (eds), Abstract proceedings - 11th annual meeting danish water forum. University of Copenhagen, Frederiksberg, pp. 20-20, 11th Annual Meeting of Danish Water Forum, Copenhagen, Denmark, 30/01/2017.