Control of the selectivity of the aquaporin water channel family by global orientational tuning