Correlation and prediction of Henry constants for liquids and gases in five industrially important polymers using a CS-type correlation based on the van der Waals equation of state. Comparison with other predictive models

Research output: Contribution to journal › Journal article – Annual report year: 1995 › Research › peer-review