Data transmission techniques for short-range optical fiber and wireless communication links