Developing alternative indices of reproductive potential for use in fisheries management: Case studies for stocks spanning an information gradient.