Engineered protein degradation of farnesyl pyrophosphate synthase is an effective regulatory mechanism to increase monoterpene production in Saccharomyces cerevisiae.

Research output: Contribution to journal › Journal article – Annual report year: 2018 › Research › peer-review