Estimating air density using observations and re-analysis outputs for wind energy purposes