Potentials and possible safety issues of using biorefinery products in food value chains