Shrimp processing assessed by low field nuclear magnetic resonance, near infrared spectroscopy, and physicochemical measurements – the effect of polyphosphate content and length of prebrining on shrimp muscle.

Research output: Contribution to journal › Journal article – Annual report year: 2011 › Research › peer-review