Shrimp processing assessed by low field nuclear magnetic resonance, near infrared spectroscopy, and physicochemical measurements – the effect of polyphosphate content and length of prebrining on shrimp muscle. - DTU Orbit (19/10/2019)

Shrimp processing assessed by low field nuclear magnetic resonance, near infrared spectroscopy, and physicochemical measurements – the effect of polyphosphate content and length of prebrining on shrimp muscle. / Guðjónsdóttir, María; Jonsson, A.; Bergsson, A. B.; Arason, S.; Rustad, T.
Research output: Contribution to journal › Journal article – Annual report year: 2011 › Research › peer-review