Talaromyces atroroseus, a new species efficiently producing industrially relevant red pigments

Research output: Contribution to journal › Journal article – Annual report year: 2013 › Research › peer-review