Wind turbine site-specific load estimation using artificial neural networks calibrated by means of high-fidelity load simulations - DTU Orbit (19/08/2019)

Wind turbine site-specific load estimation using artificial neural networks calibrated by means of high-fidelity load simulations

Research output: Contribution to journal › Conference article – Annual report year: 2018 › Research › peer-review